Naming Shabbat, Friday night October 26

Rabbi Sam Weinstein

Dear Friends:
Many years ago, between college and my first year of rabbinic studies at the Hebrew Union College, I spent eight months working as a salesman for my father's business. I travelled extensively around the Pittsburgh area trying to open new accounts. I discovered that selling frozen food was not for me, and I discovered that "a good name is better than precious oil" (Ecclesiastes 7:1).

One day, I walked into a small diner in McKeesport, PA. My father was born and raised there. I introduced myself by name—Sam Weinstein—and an elderly man, sitting at the counter looked over at me. "I knew an old-timer here in McKeesport by the name of Sam Weinstein," he said to me. "He was a terrific guy, a real gentleman." I was born five months after my grandfather, Sam Weinstein, passed away, and I burst out with pride, "Sam Weinstein was my grandfather. I never knew him, but I am named after him!" We talked for a few moments, and I couldn't wait to return to the office to tell my father what had happened. (There were no cell phones in 1978!)

I had long recognized that having a good name, being a person of integrity and having a good reputation was important, but what a sense of pride it gave me to learn that the name I was carrying belonged to a man who was held in high regard. Our Jewish tradition confirms the importance of making a good name for ourselves. Proverbs 22:1 teaches that "a good name is to be chosen rather than great riches." That may seem like an odd statement, but riches can disappear, while a good name is eternal. Proverbs 10:7 reminds us that "the memory of the righteous is a blessing, but the name of the wicked will rot."

Families regularly approach me with the birth of a child, and they clearly recognize the importance of providing a strong name for their children. Sometimes they will choose a name that they like, a name which represents qualities and attributes they would like their child to have, while at other times they want to memorialize a beloved parent of grandparent. Such a process often culminates in a lovely naming ceremony where we bestow a Hebrew name upon the child.

Many of us received our Hebrew names at birth, but there are some who have never been given a Hebrew name. In other cases, a name may be preserved on a tattered piece of paper and is difficult to decipher. Our Hebrew names provide us with our "Jewish identity" and connect us to the Jewish people. They honor family members who have come before us and their dreams for our lives, but also reach into the future as our deeds, and names, live on in those who come after us.

If you have not yet received a Hebrew name or would like to affirm the beauty of our Jewish heritage as your Hebrew name is again bestowed upon you, please call me at The Temple prior to our October 26th service so that I can prepare a certificate. If you do have a Hebrew name and would like to participate in our service as you receive your name once again, I will need that name and your parent's English and Hebrew names. If you have never received a Hebrew name and would like to receive one at our service, please call me to discuss the many options available. We can choose a name that has special meaning for your family, a name that represents goals or aspirations that you have or a name that reflects the strength of your Jewish identity.

I look forward to hearing from you and to sharing this very special and moving Shabbat experience with you.

Rabbi Sam Weinstein

LIBRARY NEWS

After all the excitement of the holidays, we finally have a quiet month to rest and reflect and READ!

We have the latest spy thriller by Daniel Silva, THE OTHER WOMAN. Master spy Gabriel Allon, now chief of Israeli Intelligence, must find a Russian mole at the highest reaches of the British Intelligence, MI6. The story takes us back to the height of the Cold War between the old Soviet Union and the West in the 1950's through the 1980's. The author has some interesting insights into the Israeli view of the relationships between America, Russia, and Great Britain. This book is well worth reading!

If you love to read recipes, you will enjoy my next recommendation, KOSHER CUISINE by Helen Nash. She includes over 250 gourmet recipes for the modern Kosher home. This book takes us back to the 1980's. There are wonderful light soups, new vegetable ideas, lots of fish and chicken, and creamy pasta dishes. The recipes are somewhat fancy, but you can adapt them.

Our Temple Book Club will meet in the Temple Lounge on Thursday, November 8, at 10:30 AM. We will discuss Amos Oz's newest novel, JUDAS. There are 2 copies in the Toledo Lucas County Public Library and 29 in Search Ohio. Just call any branch to reserve one.

Sincerely,

Alice Applebaum
Temple Librarian

POLICIES & REMINDERS

HIPAA

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) of 1996 is designed to guarantee patient privacy, which is good for the patient because it protects their confidentiality, but it can make it difficult when trying to find patients.

Please do not assume that we know you are in the hospital or that the Chaplains Office has contacted us (this is rarely the case) even if the chaplain has visited you.

PLEASE, we want to be able to visit you if you are hospitalized. We want to be able to offer you the solace and persepctive of our tradition. We want to let you know that we care, but that can only happen when we know you are in need. Thank you.

In addition PLEASE call if one of our congregants is placed in Hospice. We want to be able to support you and your family.

RSVP POLICY

Dinner / event registrations not cancelled within 48 hours prior to the event will be billed at the cost of the event.

The final count for purchasing is made 48 hours prior to each event. We regret that reimbursements after that time will not be possible.

FUNERAL POLICY

Clergy may officiate at funerals of congregants and their children who are dues paying Temple members in good standing.

Persons who are not affiliated with the Temple but who wish a funeral to be performed by Temple clergy must become dues paying members in good standing prior to the funeral.

ILMO

We have the ability to list members of our Temple family who have recently lost loved ones. We will be happy to list additional immediate family members (parents, brothers/sisters, children, siblings, and grandchildren) who are not Temple members. However, all non member information must be received in writing or email to the Temple Office prior to the 10th of each month. Please address email to: lnusbaum@templese.com.

SHARE TO THE BULLETIN

If you would like to share relevant information or have an article published in the Temple bulletin, submit to: bulletin@templese.com no later than the 10th of the preceding month.
